To Whom It May Concern:

It is with immense pleasure that I write this personal and character reference letter for Tammy Henderson. I have had the delightful privilege of knowing Tammy for over 25 years. Besides being a close and personal friend, I have had the opportunity to sit along side her in various Bible Studies and small group settings. Throughout the years, Tammy has consistently proven herself to be a woman of outstanding character and steadfast integrity. This can be seen in the very way she lives her life. As a person of authenticity, she is one of the most upstanding and virtuous women I know.

In all the years that I have known Tammy, she has somehow managed to balance her family, work, and personal life, not seemingly letting any one of these areas fall through the crack without her attention and involvement. She embodies what it is to be a faithful and thoughtful wife as well as a loving and committed parent. Her familial ties are intact and without question, strong.

At all times I have found Tammy to be honest, encouraging, articulate, dependable, confident, conscientious, and peace-loving. Her interpersonal skills are exemplary as is her ability to handle conflict, which she does remarkably well. She is not one to hold a grudge; she forgives easily. She sincerely cares about others, demonstrating this fact through her kindness, patience, and ability to listen attentively to those with whom she comes into contact. She is truly the one person I know who hopes for the best for all people and encourages each individual to strive for their best.

As a UCI burn nurse, Tammy has received several accolades and has been recognized for her exceptional nursing abilities. She has been asked to speak, teach, train, and share her nursing skills and knowledge with others in various settings. She generously volunteers her time to help and encourage others like when she was a counselor at the Angel Face retreat and traveled to remote places in Vietnam to perform basic nursing functions for those in need. Tammy is a hard worker, natural leader, self-motivated, and strives to do all things excellently.

I would be pleased to provide any further information required for your consideration of Tammy Henderson for employment.

Yours faithfully,
Christina Medina
